

Work Will Begin Shortly On Pipe Line From Owens Valley to Harbor

With an allocation of $257,283 in labor granted by the SERA, construction is expected to begin shortly on the city of Los Angeles' new $644,000 Western avenue pipeline that will bring Owens valley aqueduct water to San Pedro and the harbor area for the first time.

Materials, principally the 30-inch main, will cost $851,767, according to engineers of the water and power department, bringing the total cost to $644,000.

A total of 880 men per shift will be given employment on the project under the SERA, and 90 days is the limit in which the pipeline must be laid and the work completed.

Bids on the pipe were taken several months ago, and it was understood that the city planned to begin construction work at once under force account. Later, an application was filed with the SERA, and word of its approval came this week from Frank Y.

McLaughlin, state administrator for the SERA.

Water for the harbor district, after October, will come down the aqueduct across San Fernando valley, into Hollywood reservoir, and across Los Angeles on Western avenue. The large line now is laid as far south as Manchester boulevard. At approximately 100th street, there is a large reservoir with which the pipeline will be connected, to equalize the flow and maintain a uniform and constant pressure in the line.

Funds Asked For Preliminary Survey For Proposed Exposition

Request for an appropriation of $10,000 by the county to assist in the financing of the preliminary study and survey of an exposition project was under advisement by the supervisors today.

W. A. Simpson, executive vice president of the Pacific Exposition Corporation, stated to the board that the interests represented in his corporation had not even tentatively selected any site as yet, and had no connection with the parties who are seeking a lease of Alondra Park for the purpose of staging an exposition.

The Pacific Corporation is planning to hold an international exposition here in 1938-39 to celebrate the completion of Boulder dam, the Metropolitan aqueduct, the Mono Basin project and the All-American canal.

However, the plans are to use this as a foundation for a permanent yearly exposition to be held here for a period of from two to four weeks each year, somewhat on the lines that the permanent exposition in Toronto, Canada, is now conducted.

It was stated by Mr. Simpson that from $100,000 to $150,000 was necessary for the preliminary financing in order to make a thorough survey of the feasibility of the project and of the sites that may be available for it.

A great part of this sum has already been pledged to the Los Angeles Bureau of Power and Light and the Metropolitan Water District each having promised $10,000.

Banks, hotels and prominent stores have also pledged themselves to contribute to the financing.

Bills have passed the legislature appropriating $25,000 and setting up the framework for a $5,000,000 bond issue should this prove to be desirable. Mr. Simpson stated that his group was working in close co-operation with the San Francisco group who are also planning an exposition to celebrate the completion of the two bridges.
